TIDBITS FOR THOUGHT

LOVE SPEAKS

1 John 4:16 “And so we know and rely on the love God has for us. God is love. Whoever lives in love lives in God and God in him.” Throughout the ages there has been millions upon millions of words written and spoken about love. The writers of Scripture, poets, playwrights, sages, philosophers, lovers, novelists, believers and non-believers have all written words meant to understand, define or convey this beautiful emotion we call love. However, all of these billions of words pale in contrast to the words of God who is the very presence and essence of love. We know from Scripture that God speaks, therefore Love speaks. Love spoke the universe into existence, Love walked and talked to His creation, Adam and Eve. Love spoke to Moses through a burning bush. Love spoke to the prophets through visions and dreams. Love spoke to Elijah in the silence. Love spoke to the Disciples through a cloud. Love still speaks to us today through the words of Scripture and the presence of the Spirit. Love speaks when we are gifted with another dawn. Love speaks when we enjoy life-giving sunshine and rain. Love speaks through the power and mystery of the tides. Love speaks through the majesty and unimaginable depth of the universe. Love speaks through a sincere smile. Love speaks when the Holy Spirit moves an individual to reach out to one less fortunate. Love speaks through individual acts of goodness and kindness, no matter how small. Love speaks when one heart listens to another heart with compassion. Love speaks when hate and bigotry are confronted with truth. Love speaks when the unforgiveable is somehow forgiven. Love speaks when the stranger is welcomed and treated with respect rather than persecuted. Love speaks when individuals are treated as equals, with no artificial boundaries. Love speaks when truth is revered instead of lies and distortion. In short, God has always spoken to His creation and still speaks today, in thousands of ways. Whether we listen or not therefore becomes the eternal question...will we be with God or not?

Think about it!
